Hi Laveen,

I am so excited that you are finally visiting Malaysia! Both Malacca and Pulau Langkawi are great choices, offering different experiences for every first-timer. Malacca is a popular historic city with cultural charm and colonial buildings. On the other hand, Pulau Langkawi offers pristine beaches, abundant rainforests and fun island activities. Since you are travelling with your family, I might suggest Malacca for its rich history as you can learn more about Malaysia from the early days. Besides that, the routes are easier to navigate too.

Basketball is, without a doubt, my favourite sport. I love the fast pace and the constant challenge of outscoring the opponent. Whether it's a friendly game or a competitive match, the thrill of sinking a basket or making a key steal never gets old.

Most weekends, I head to the local court with my friends, form teams and play. We practise to improve our dribbling, passing and shooting skills. The best part is the teamwork and creating memories by celebrating victories and learning from losses together.

Basketball is also about pushing my limits, having fun with friends and enjoying the feeling of accomplishment after an intense game. It's a sport that brings out the best in me, both physically and mentally, and I'm sure I'll continue to love it for years to come.

Last year, I had the privilege of attending the vibrant celebration of Hari Raya Aidilfitri in Malaysia. The festival marks the end of Ramadan, the Islamic holy month of fasting. I celebrated Hari Raya Aidilfitri with my friends and their families, who warmly welcomed me into their homes.

The festivities took place at various homes and mosques throughout the community, where we enjoyed delicious feasts of traditional Malay dishes and sweets. The atmosphere was filled with joy and camaraderie as we exchanged heartfelt greetings and visited relatives and neighbours to seek forgiveness and blessings.

Overall, celebrating Hari Raya Aidilfitri in Malaysia was a memorable experience that allowed me to immerse in the rich cultural and religious traditions while strengthening unity within the community.

Hi Azham!

I am doing well. I believe organizing a beach clean-up for your Science Club project is an excellent idea as it can leave a profound impact on students and the environment. It is a great opportunity to raise awareness about environmental issues and the importance of restoring the marine ecosystem. Through this initiative, students can become more conscious of their waste and contribute to reducing sea pollution. Let me know if you need any help to plan. I am happy to support you!

See you soon,

Yong Cun

Part 2

Growing up in a place where one does not usually encounter any horrible natural disasters, being trapped during a flash flood was a traumatic experience. It was a typical rainy season where torrents of rain poured down relentlessly. As the water levels began to rise rapidly, panic set in among the residents of our neighbourhood. It was unlike what we have ever seen.

My family and I watched in disbelief as the streets transformed into fast-flowing rivers, carrying debris and threatening to inundate our homes. With each passing minute, the situation grew direr, and we realized we had to take action. Wading through the waist-deep water, we headed to safety, clinging to one another amidst the chaos, hoping no one would get swept away.

Days passed by, and the floodwaters eventually receded, leaving a trail of destruction. As we worked together to clean and rebuild whatever that was left, I gained a newfound appreciation for the importance of preparedness and community support in times of crisis.

Though the memory of the flash flood remains etched in my mind as one of the scariest moments in life, I am grateful for the bonds that unite us as a family.

Hi Hong Yan,

I am great! Hope you are well. Malacca is a great choice for a short weekend getaway! For must-sees, I would suggest Jonker Street – a vibrant night market with delectable street food and unique souvenirs. You can also explore historical sites like the A'Famosa, a Portuguese fortress, and St. Paul's Church, the oldest church in Malaysia. Don't forget to take pictures at the colourful Dutch Square. Have a great trip!

As a student, I will protect wildlife by volunteering for local conservation programmes and spreading awareness about the importance of keeping animals safe. I will participate in clean-up activities to keep their habitats clean. Additionally, I will use social media to educate my peers about the threats imposed on wildlife and encourage them to take action.

Protecting wildlife is crucial because they are the key to maintaining the ecosystem. They help pollinate plants, control pest populations and contribute to biodiversity. Without them, our environment would have adverse impacts on our lives.

Everyone plays a role in protecting wildlife, from students, teachers to government officials and community leaders. I will collaborate with my school to organise events and fundraising campaigns to support conservation efforts. By taking these steps, we can ensure a safer and healthier environment for all living creatures.

For my upcoming holiday, I am planning to visit Paris, France. I will be travelling with my family. We will explore its iconic landmarks, such as the Eiffel Tower, the Louvre Museum, and the Notre-Dame Cathedral.

Additionally, we look forward to indulge in delicious French cuisine and strolling along the charming streets of Montmartre. To make the most of our time in Paris, we have planned a mix of sightseeing, museum visits and leisurely walks through the city's picturesque neighbourhoods.

We will be travelling to Paris by plane, as it offers a convenient and efficient mode of transportation. We booked our flights months ago to ensure smooth travel arrangements and to secure the best possible deals. Upon arriving in Paris, we plan to use public transportation, such as the metro and buses, to navigate the city and reach our desired destinations. We are eagerly anticipating our holiday to create unforgettable memories.

PAPER 2Part 1

Hi Sujin,

I'm doing well, thanks! Yes, I'm excited about Mauritius. If you need a pet, I'd suggest adopting a cat. Cats are great companions, relatively low-maintenance and perfect for indoor living. They can be very affectionate and playful, making them an ideal companion, assuming you need a mood lifter. Plus, they don't need as much space or attention as dogs. I think you'll find a cat to be a wonderful and comforting friend.

Take care and good luck!

My inspiration comes from my parents, who have always supported and encouraged me. They have shown me the importance of hard work and perseverance. Their dedication to their careers and belief in my potential motivates me to strive for excellence. Their support gives me the confidence to pursue my dream of becoming a doctor.
